Hidden in Plain Sight — Haze (A Glimpse mini-series)

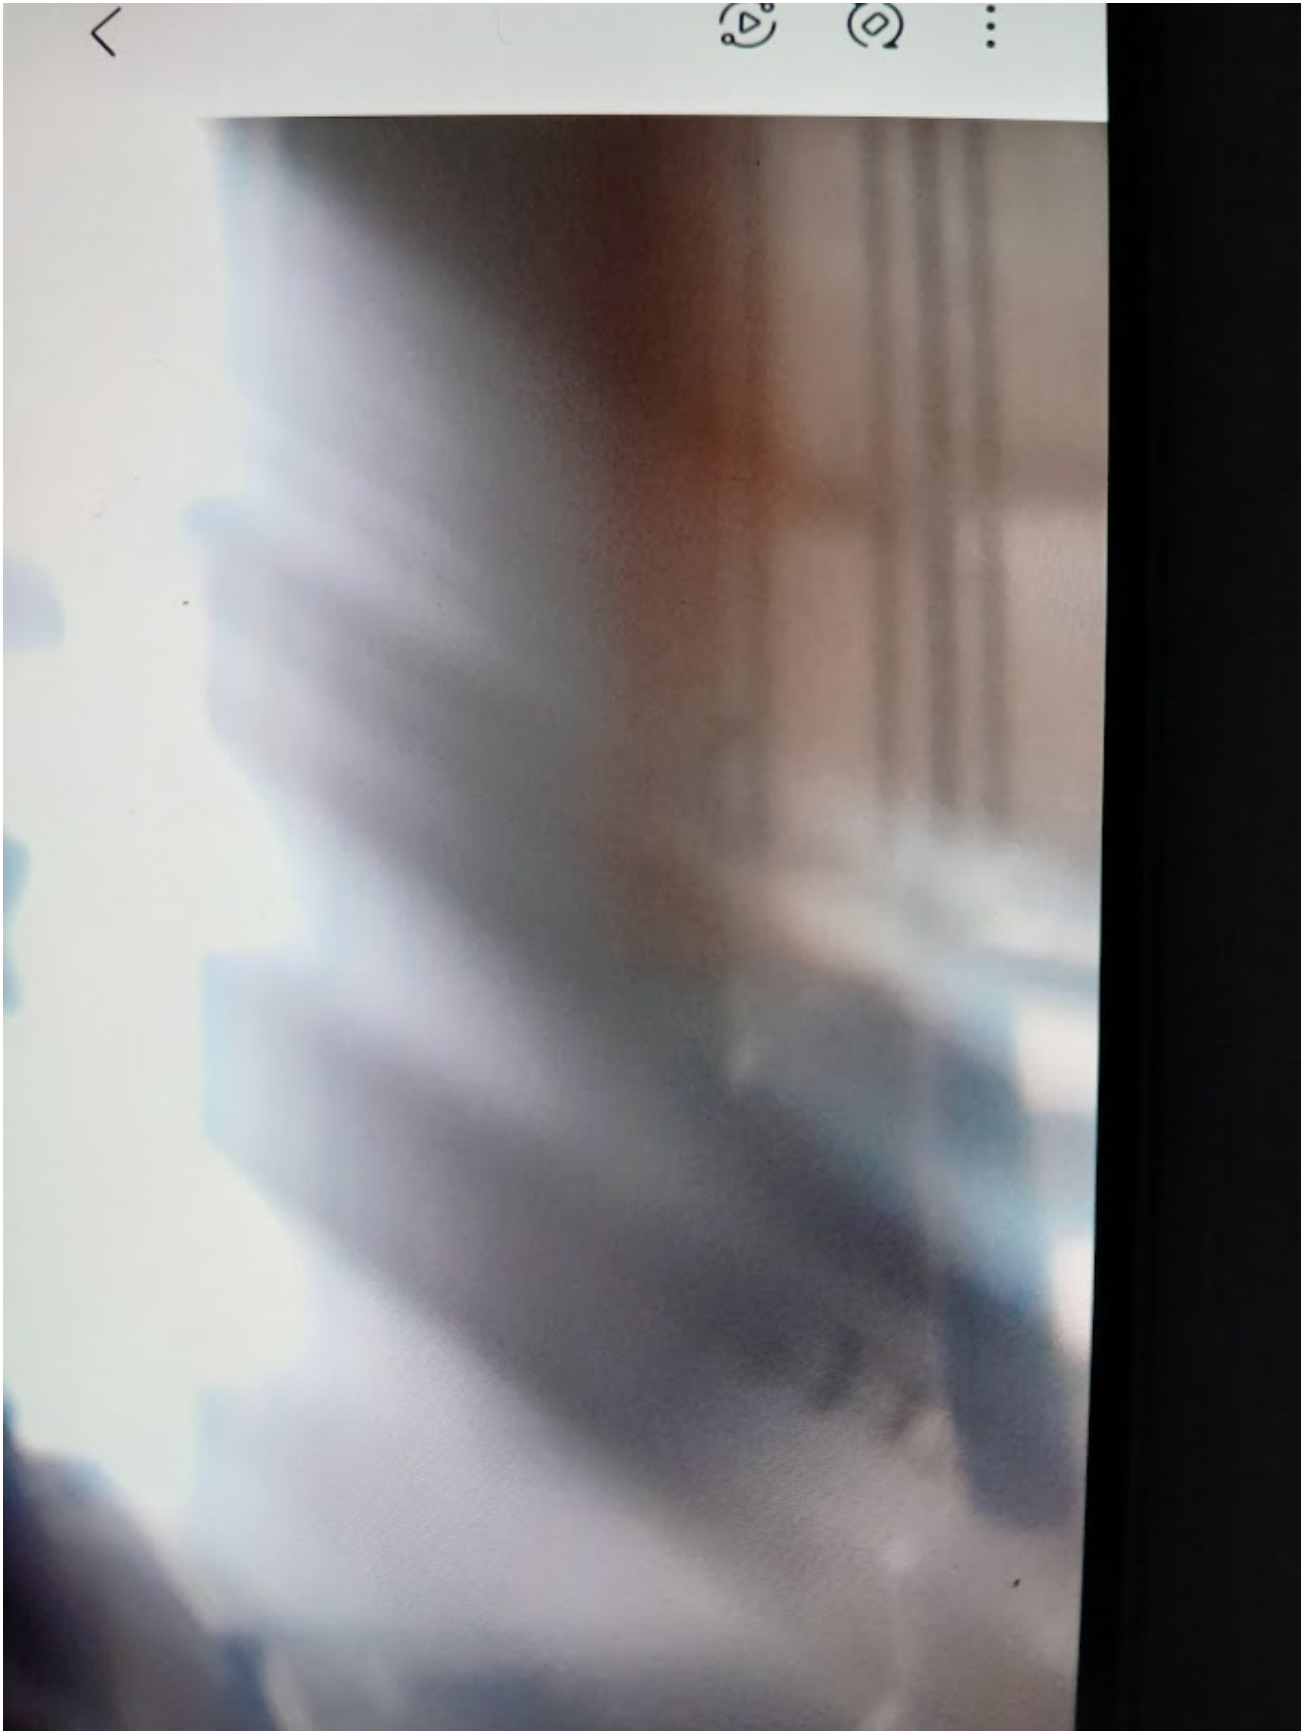

Window as portal

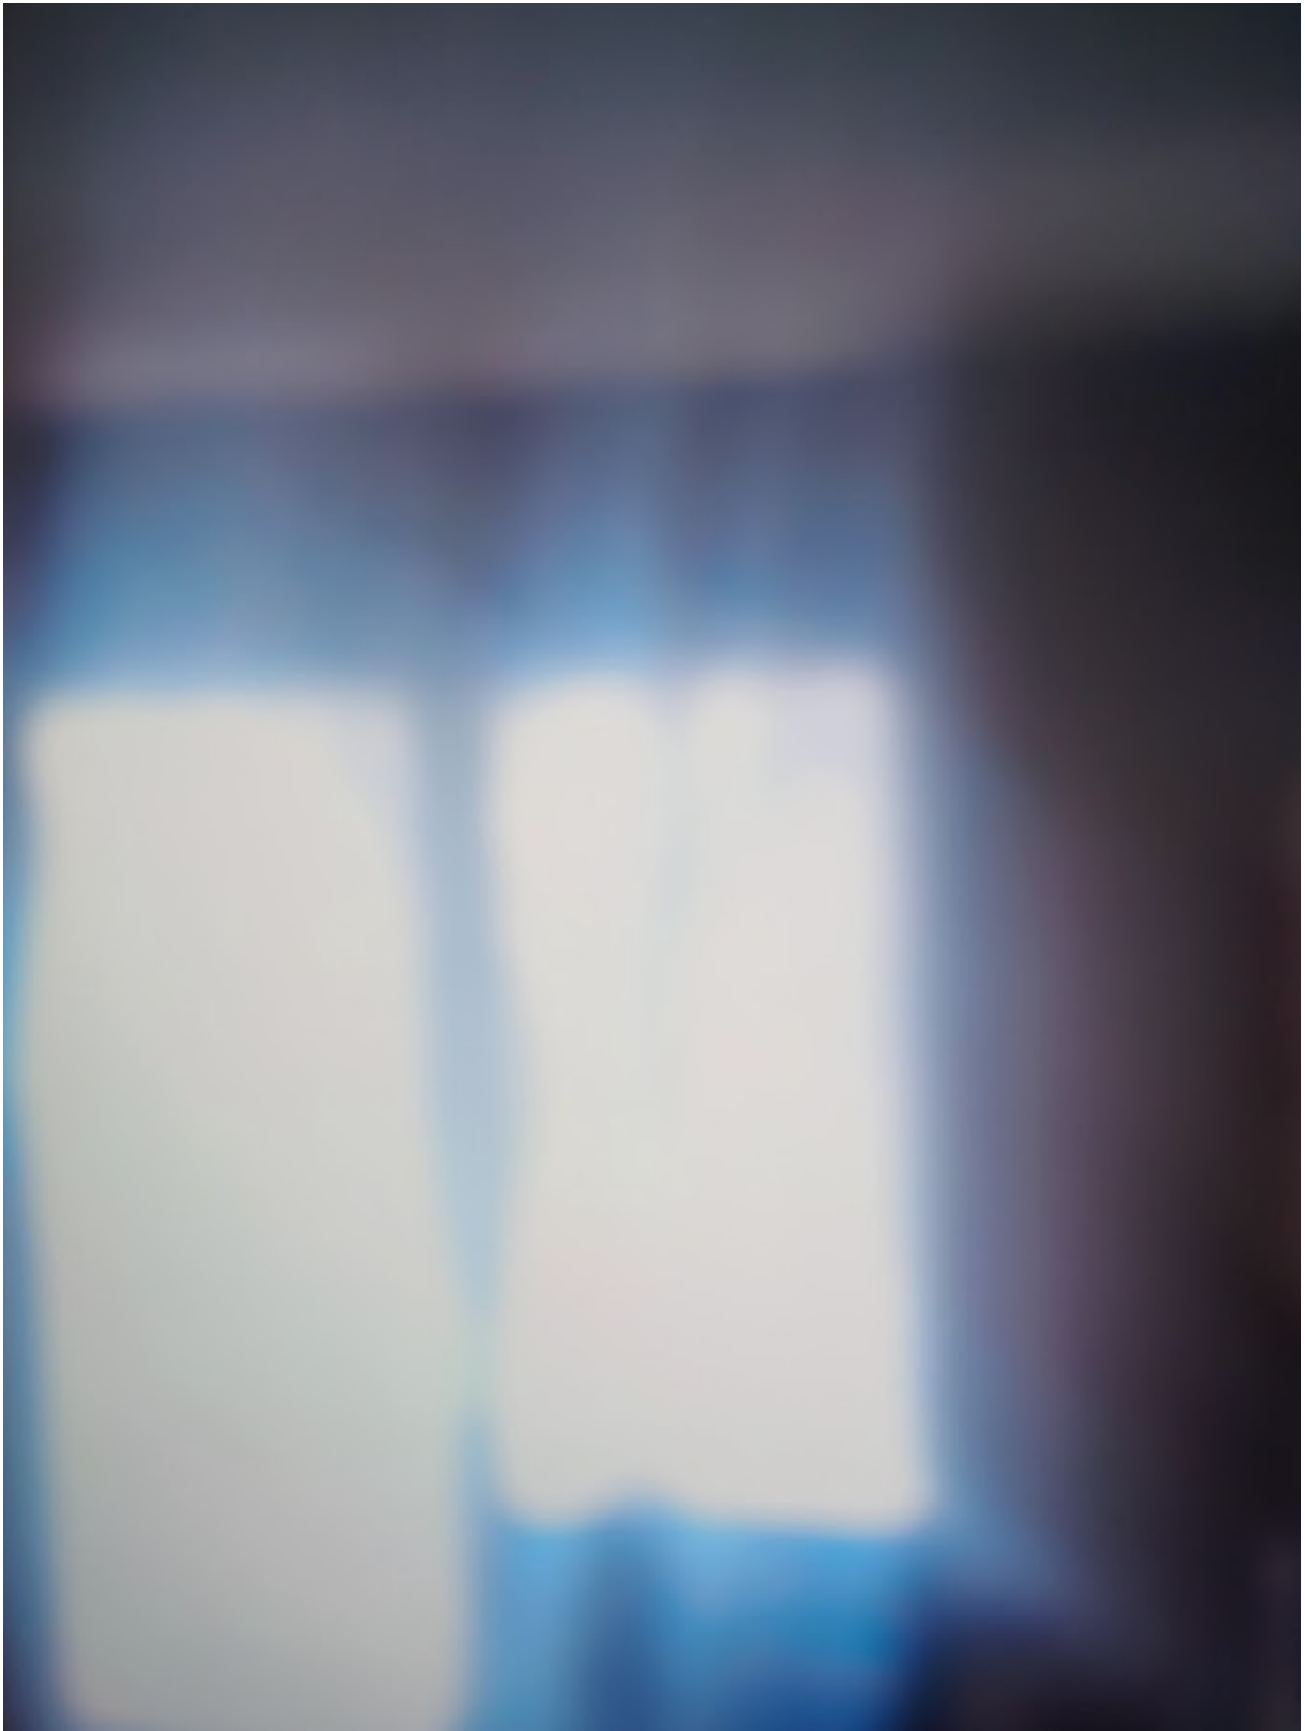

Veil entering the room

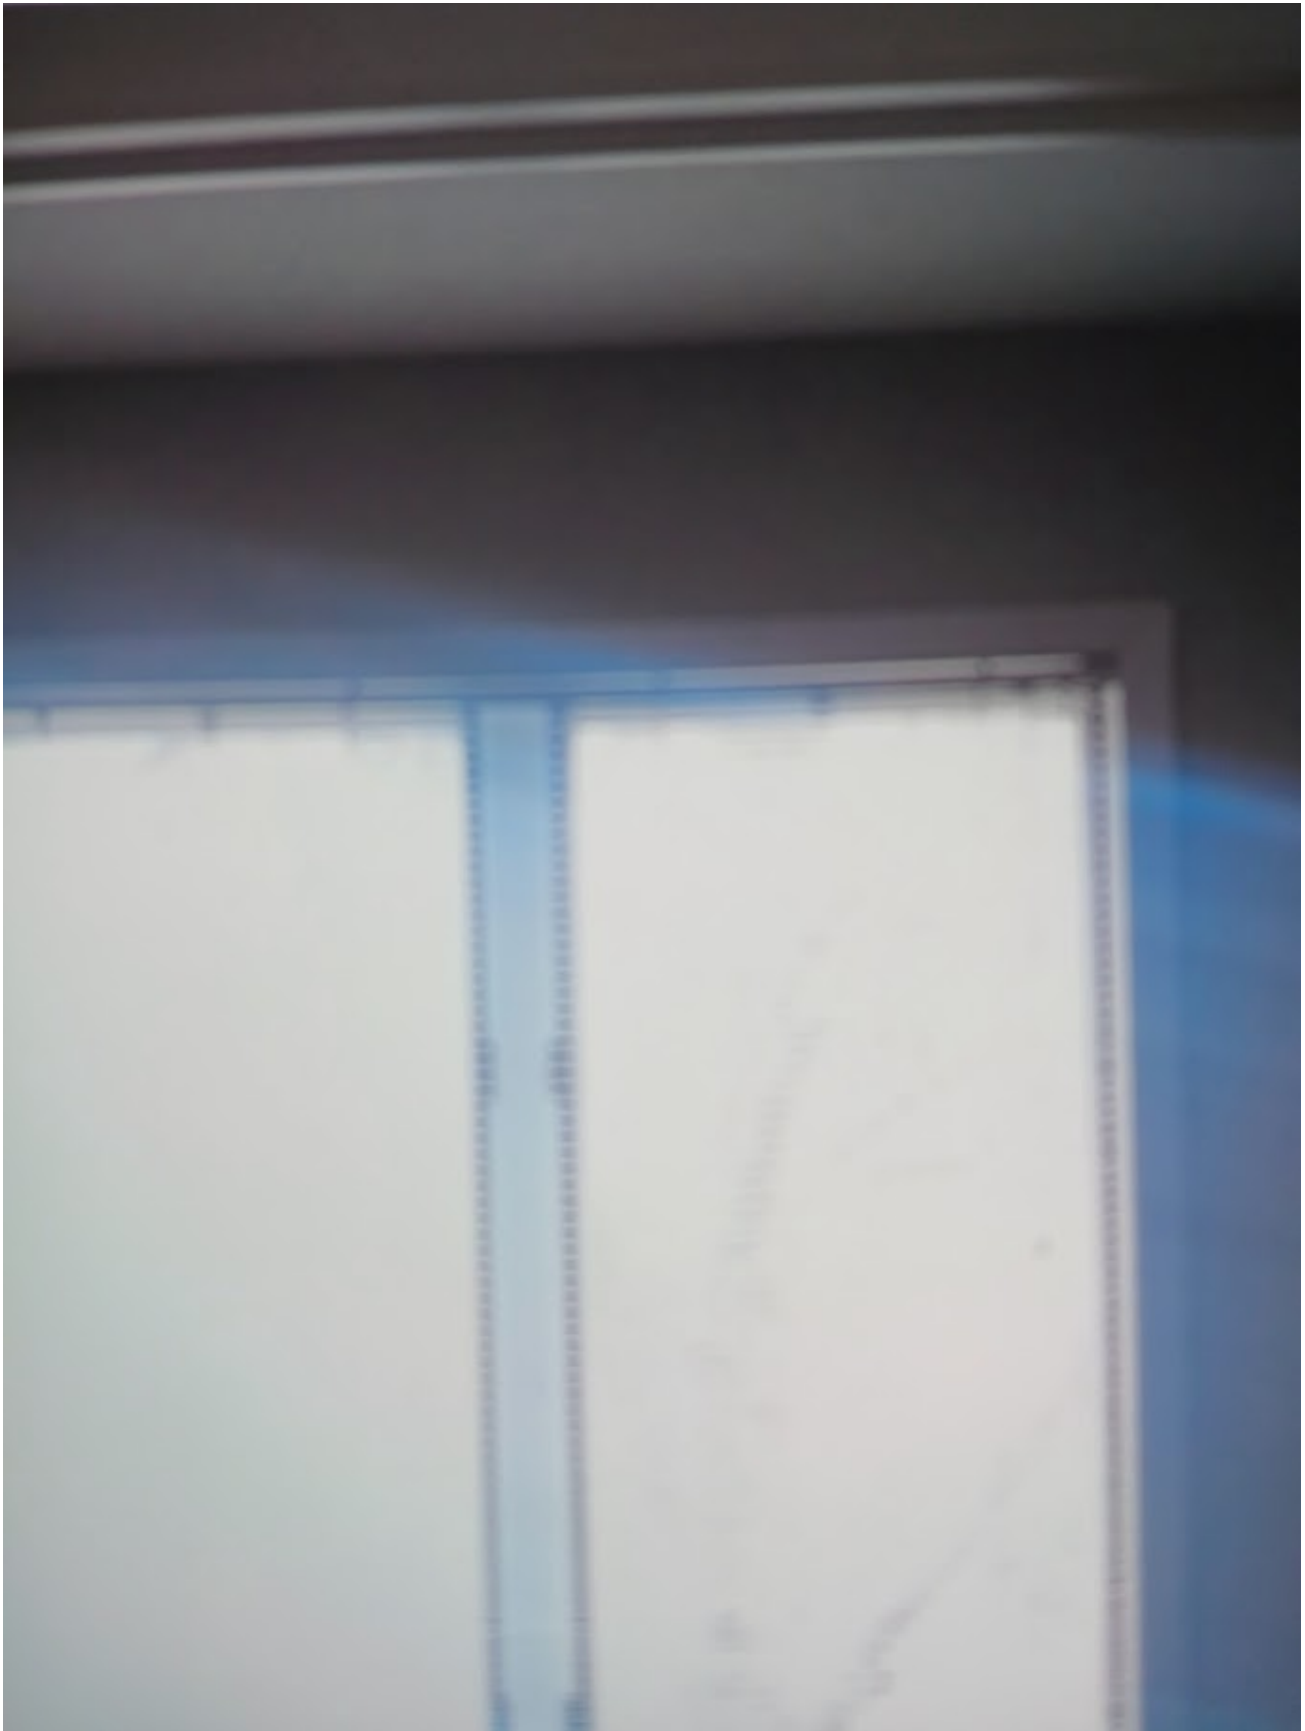

Edges softening into air

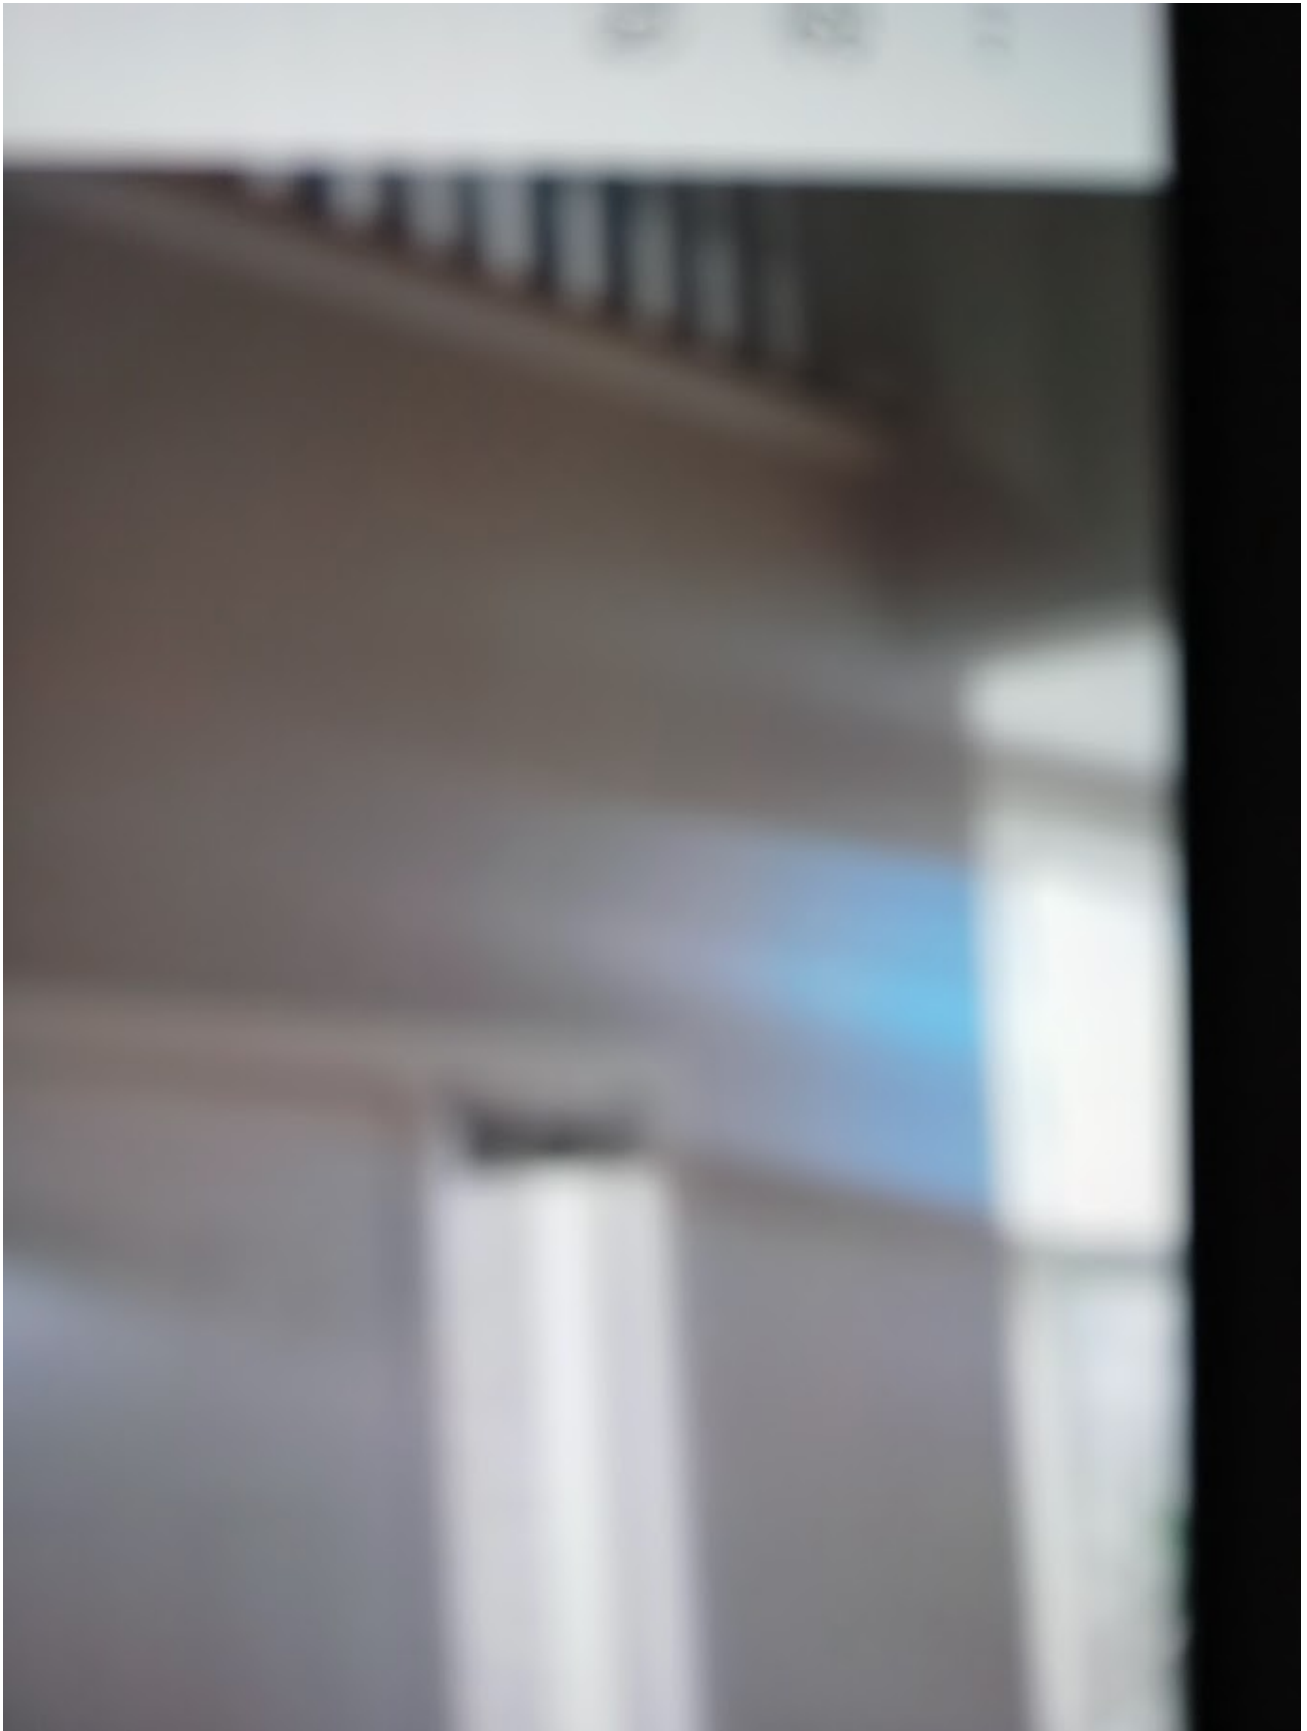

A beam becomes a stair

Quiet refraction at noon

Threshold, half-remembered

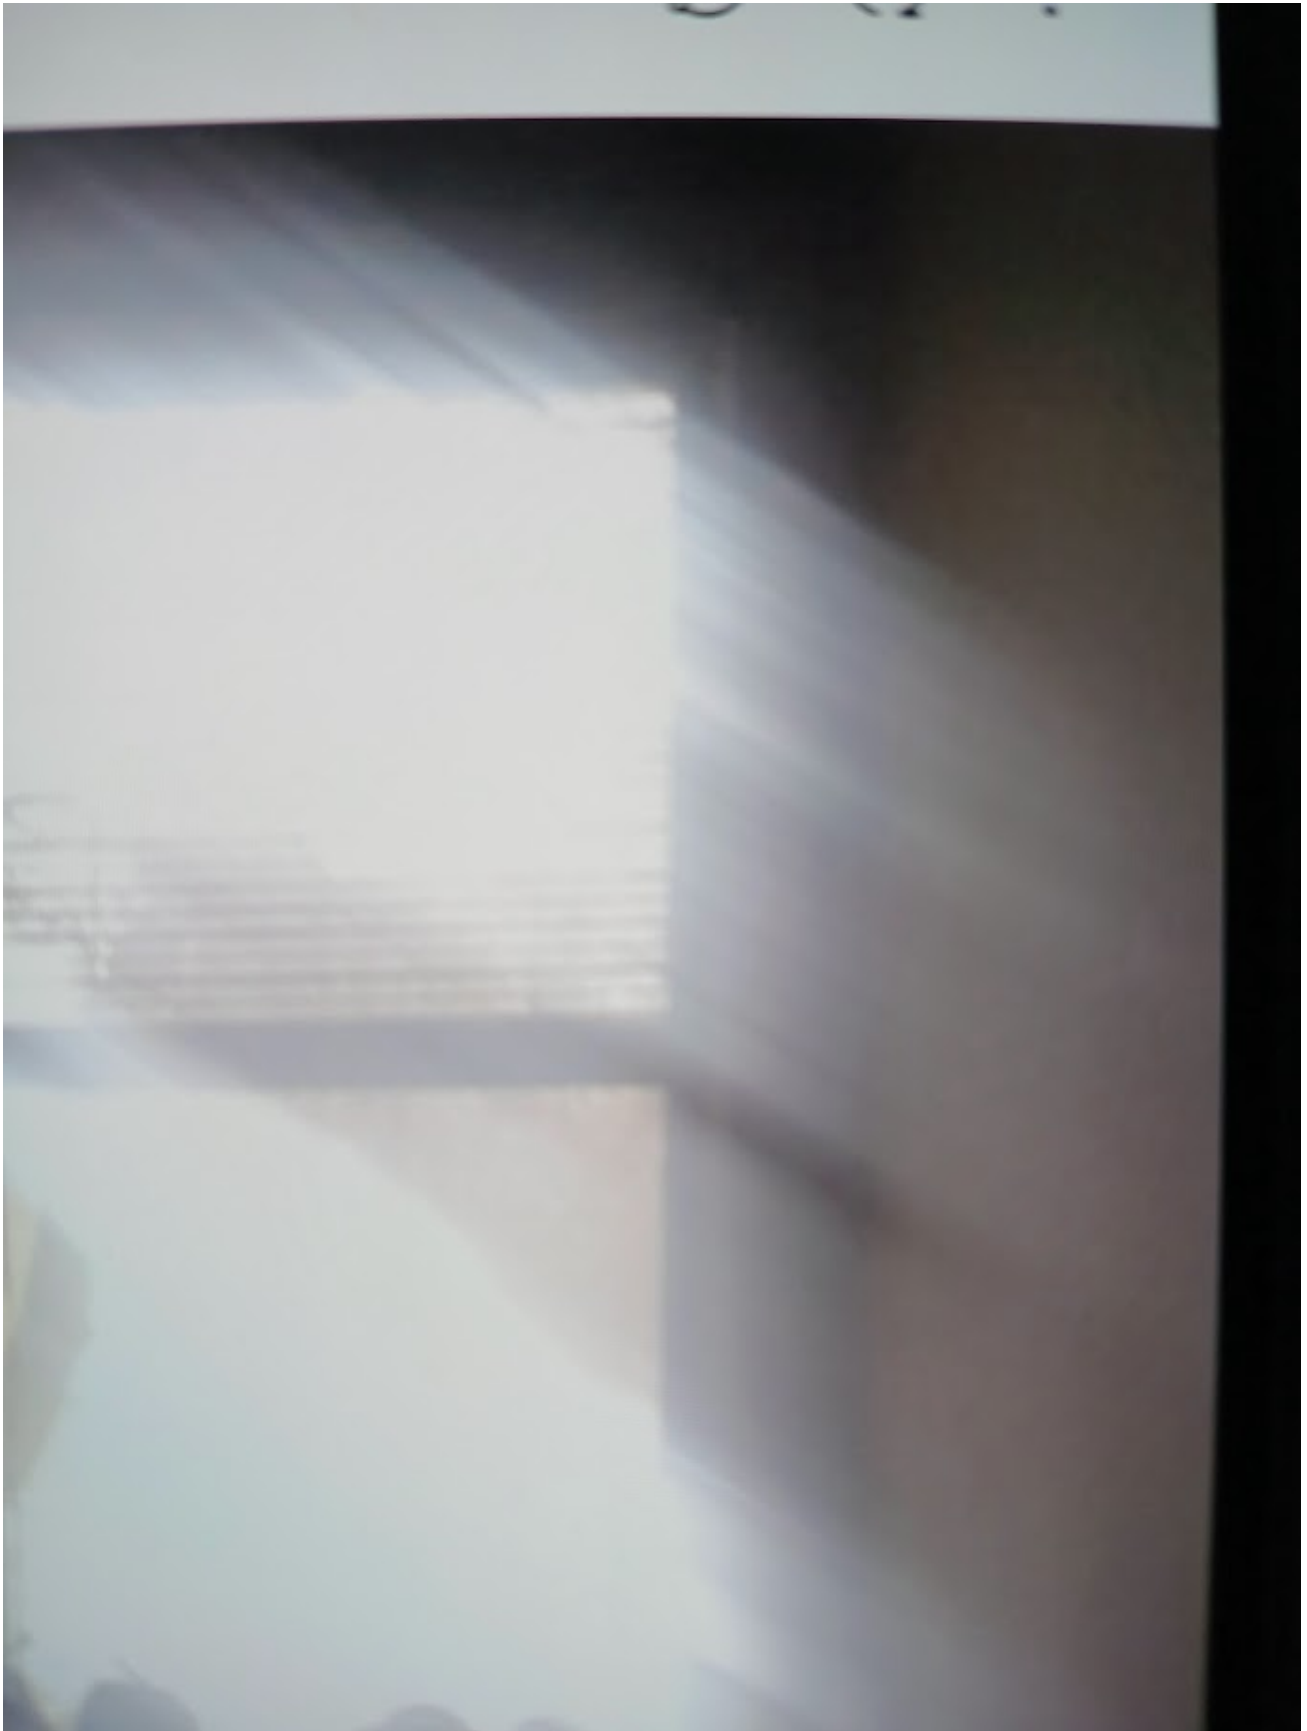

Light on the edge of form

Soft ingress, hardly seen

Veil ascending

Afterglow at the wall

Description: The first volume in the Haze mini-series. Indoor light veils — windows, thresholds, and stairwell rays where the ordinary turns luminous. Each frame is a quiet dialogue between walls and the light that passes through them.
